Specialist mortgages and your holiday let

If you're in the market for a holiday let and need a specialist mortgage, what should you be aware of?

When might you need a specialist mortgage? The clue is in the name – if your situation is different from the normal criteria of a traditional mortgage, then a specialist product could be the answer. This especially applies to people in the market for a holiday let.

When do you need a specialist mortgage?

A specialist mortgage could apply if you're buying a high value home or already have a home and want a second charge mortgage in order to carry out renovations. They could also suit those who are self-employed, looking for a holiday or buy-to-let (BTL) property or people who do not meet the standard criteria for a mortgage. Whatever the reason, seek financial advice from an expert in the specialist mortgage field to find the best deal for your situation.

Holiday lets

When it comes to a mortgage for a property you intend to use as a holiday let, your regular income is considered in terms of the loan value, regardless of the amount you estimate might come in from the eventual rental. This is to ensure you can afford the mortgage payments during times when rents are not coming in, or when you are using the property. Although staying there yourself is one of the advantages of a holiday let, you can't live there on a permanent basis as it would affect the terms of the mortgage.

Some specialist mortgage products for holiday lets offer a maximum loan-to-value (LTV) of a certain amount for the mortgage. So, if your holiday let costs £200,000, and the LTV from the specialist product is 70%, then you will be able to get a loan of £140,000 from your lender and your deposit would need to be £60,000.

Lenders have their own criteria, which could include the following:

- Applicants need to be over the age of 21 and in stable employment.
- Your main income should not come from another rental or investment.
- Borrowers will need to prove their income exceeds a certain amount annually.
- A minimum deposit (usually around 25% of the property value).
- Rental projection from a holiday letting agent may be required, covering off-peak seasonal periods and high-demand times of year.
- The rental property itself must meet certain criteria (for example, being located within the UK and functioning as a single-family dwelling).

Holiday let vs buy-to-let

You might think that there is little difference between a holiday let mortgage and a buy-to-let mortgage (BTL), but there are a few. A BTL mortgage will contain different conditions and requirements, such as the need for an assured shorthold tenancy being in place (AST).

Using a BTL property as a holiday letting – without informing your lender – is a breach of the agreement and could undermine your mortgage contract and credit rating. The main difference between the two types of mortgages is how the loan size is calculated, and the estimates of rent the properties will receive. A holiday let will tend to bring in less rental income due to its seasonal nature.

Furnished holiday lets come with tax advantages that BTL properties do not.<sup>1</sup> They are treated as a business, which means you can claim capital gains tax relief on any profits. Owners can also claim capital allowances to cover the cost of furnishings and furniture, and equipment such as refrigerators and washing machines.

There are more allowable expenses for a holiday let, compared to a BTL, including:

- ✓ letting agents' fees
- ✓ accountants' fees and certain legal fees
- ✓ mortgage interest
- ✓ building and contents insurance
- ✓ maintenance and repairs to the property
- ✓ utility bills, council tax, ground rents and service charges.

What is income protection?

Income protection insurance pays out a percentage of your monthly income if you are unable to work.

Your income is important and keeps your family secure. So, if you are in a situation where you'd like to protect it if anything happened, you might want some income protection.

How does income protection work?

Income protection is an insurance policy, so you pay a monthly or annual premium for it like any other type of insurance. If you can't work because of sickness, disability, or other reasons (depending on your policy criteria), you will receive a regular income until you either return to paid work, retire, pass away or the policy term comes to an end.

The amount that is paid could be anything from 60% to 65% of your pre-tax income, and payments (which are tax free) will start after a pre-agreed waiting period, which could be weeks or months. You'll pay more in premiums if the waiting period is shorter, and the percentage of your income is larger.

Income protection is different to life insurance or critical illness cover, both of which do not pay regular amounts but instead give you one-off lump sums in the event of your death or the diagnosis of a critical illness. That's why it's important to seek financial advice if you are thinking about getting coverage.

Who could benefit from income protection?

If you work in a high-risk profession or have high-risk hobbies, you might want income protection in case you're unable to work because of an accident. If you've suffered an illness and feel you're at risk of being unable to work because of it, income protection could provide peace of mind, too.

Some things to consider if you are thinking about getting income protection include:

-  if you have a good level of statutory sick pay from your employer, you may not need more cover.
-  is it the best option for you and your situation? For example, do you (or your partner or spouse) have sufficient savings to help provide an income if you were unable to work?
-  can you keep up with the premiums?
-  will you find any exclusions in your policy difficult to manage?
-  are you close enough to retirement to not need income protection?

How are premiums calculated?

As with any insurance policy to do with your life and health, factors like your age, health condition, if you smoke, your occupation and others (like how much of your income you would like to receive, and how soon you would like payments to start) will be considered when your premium is calculated.

Our Protection Advisers will be able to give you advice and guide you through what type of policy works best for you, helping you find value for money as well as some peace of mind knowing your income is protected.

Protect your peace of mind when moving home

Moving home can be a hectic and exciting time, but don't forget about protection – taking out the appropriate policies can save you a lot of stress in the long term.

If you've just moved home or are about to, it probably feels like you've been caught up in a bit of a whirlwind over the past few months. With searching for a property during a pandemic, making the move before the stamp duty holiday ends and potentially getting caught up in the resulting conveyancing backlog, protection policies are probably not top of your priority list.

Yet it's important to take the necessary precautions to ensure your new home and possessions are looked after – now more than ever. Here are some of the main types of protection you should be thinking about.

Mortgage protection

If you're unable to work due to illness or injury or because you've lost your job, mortgage payment protection will cover the cost of your mortgage each month. These policies usually last for a year or until you return to work – whichever is soonest.

You can pick how much you want your policy to pay out each month, and this can include a buffer for other expenses, such as bills. It's important to bear in mind though that providers usually set monthly limits of between £1,500 and £2,000. You won't always be able to claim straight away, and there's usually a waiting period of one or two months. The cost of mortgage protection will depend on:

-  your salary;
-  the size of your mortgage repayments;
-  the type of policy you choose; and
-  how soon you want to be covered.

Income protection

Income protection provides you with a regular income if you've lost your job or are unable to work due to illness or injury. There's usually a minimum wait of four weeks before you can start receiving payments. There are different types available:

- A short-term plan covers you for involuntary redundancy, but is usually limited to a set time period.
- A long-term plan will usually cover you until you return to work, retire, die, or the policy ends – whichever is soonest.

Buildings insurance

If you've got a mortgage, you're likely to have buildings insurance to cover the cost of repairing damage or rebuilding the structure of your home if it's damaged. But have you looked carefully through the policy and made sure that it definitely covers everything you need it to? Once you've moved, you may realise that your new home has a slightly more complex structure than you first realised, and it's important to make sure your buildings insurance takes this into account. If you're lucky enough to not have a mortgage, it's still a sensible idea to invest in this type of insurance for peace of mind.

Contents insurance

If you've bought new furniture and gadgets for your home, you might need to review your contents insurance. This type of insurance covers the cost of replacing possessions in your home if they're stolen, destroyed or damaged. It's a good idea to double check which of your items are covered so that you're not caught out if something does go wrong.

Act now

When you're caught up in the excitement of moving, thinking about protection might be the last thing on your mind. But remember that your circumstances can change quickly and it's important to make sure you're prepared now in case things don't go to plan in the future. # Turning 'generation rent' into 'generation buy'

New 95% mortgage scheme to help first-time buyers

Lenders are now offering a government-backed 95% mortgage scheme to help more first-time buyers onto the property ladder.

The government is hoping to turn 'generation rent' into 'generation buy' with the help of a 5% mortgage deposit scheme launched on 19 April.

Following the outbreak of the coronavirus pandemic, many lenders withdrew low-deposit mortgages. In just under a year, the number of 95% mortgages available to first-time buyers fell from 391 to just three. It's hoped the scheme will give lenders the confidence to offer low-deposit mortgages again by taking on some of the risks involved.

What is the 5% deposit scheme?

First announced in this year's Budget, the programme offers first-time buyers or current homeowners the chance to secure a 95% loan-to-value mortgage on homes worth up to £600,000. It's available on both new-build and existing properties.

The government hopes the scheme will provide an affordable route to home ownership by helping people who may be renting but are unable to save for a deposit.

Buyers will still only be able to borrow in proportion to their income, typically a multiple of 4.5. As a result, the scheme will particularly benefit buyers in lower-value housing markets such as northern England and Scotland.

What does loan to value mean?

Loan to value is the percentage of the property value you're loaned as a mortgage – in other words, the proportion you're borrowing. For example, if you have a 95% mortgage on a house worth £200,000, you would put down £10,000 (5%) of your own money as a deposit and borrow the rest (£190,000).

What's the catch?

There are a few conditions that you'll have to meet under the scheme. You'll need to:

- Buy a property to live in – second homes and buy-to-let properties aren't eligible.
- Apply for a repayment (not interest-only) mortgage
- Pass standard affordability checks, including a loan-to-income test and credit score assessment.

It's worth considering the fact that the higher proportion of the property price you borrow, the higher the amount of interest you'll repay on your mortgage. So it might be good to take a step back and figure out if you can save for a little longer and borrow less.
