Get on the property ladder with the Help to Buy scheme

All you need to know about upcoming changes to the government's Help to Buy equity loan scheme.

If you're looking to buy your first home, you probably already know about the government's Help to Buy equity loan scheme. It's proved popular since launch in 2013, with almost 300,000 properties bought as part of the initiative so far. But some aspects of the scheme are changing later this year, and it's important you understand whether you'll still be eligible for help.

Are you eligible?

The new Help to Buy equity loan rules apply from April 2021 to March 2023. To qualify, you must:

- be a first-time buyer in England;
- have a deposit worth at least 5% of the property you're looking to buy;
- borrow a minimum of 5% and up to a maximum of 20% (40% in London) of the full purchase price of a new-build home from the government; and
- buy the property from a homebuilder registered with the scheme.

What are the price caps?

The price of your home can't exceed the maximum figure outlined by the government. These limits vary depending on where you're looking to buy.

Region	Maximum property price
North East	£186,100
North West	£224,400
Yorkshire and the Humber	£228,100
East Midlands	£261,900
West Midlands	£255,600
East of England	£407,400
London	£600,000
South East	£437,600
South West	£349,000

What if the value of my home changes?

The amount you have to pay back is based on the market value of the property when you choose to repay. If the market value of your home rises, so does the amount you owe on your equity loan – if it falls, the amount you owe also falls.

Rest assured we are here to help if you have any questions about Help to Buy mortgages

How does it work?

The total cost of buying your home will be covered by the government equity loan as well as your deposit and mortgage. The percentage you borrow from the government is based on the market value of your home when you buy it.

For example, if the property is worth £200,000, you might ask the government for a 20% equity loan (£40,000) to add to your 5% deposit (£10,000) and 75% mortgage (£150,000).

The loan is interest free for the first five years, and from the sixth year you'll be charged interest at 1.75% each month. This rate increases every year after that in line with the consumer price index, plus 2%. You'll continue to pay interest until you've fully repaid the loan.

You can repay all or part of the equity loan at any time, but a part payment must be at least 10% of what your home is worth at the time.

You'll need to pay the equity loan back in full if you:

- reach the end of the equity loan term
- pay off your mortgage
- sell your home
- do not follow the terms set out in the equity loan contract

YOUR HOME MAY BE REPOSSESSED IF YOU DO NOT KEEP UP REPAYMENTS ON YOUR MORTGAGE

Business Protection

You need it more than ever

Prior to lockdown, over half (51%) of businesses had some form of debt, owing an average of £176,000 each – and yet just 20% used an insurance policy as security.

To add to this already significant issue, bank lending to struggling businesses via government-backed COVID-19 loan schemes reached nearly £52bn as of mid-August – meaning that UK businesses are more heavily indebted than ever.

Business loan protection

Business loan protection provides funds to repay a business loan, commercial mortgage, or a director's loan if one of the company's owners were to die or be diagnosed with a serious or terminal illness. Essentially, this type of insurance comprises a life cover or critical illness policy taken out on the life of the business owner or key person, with the payout ensuring the business can pay its debts should the worst happen.

Most lenders require some form of security when lending to businesses; often, business owners will use their own personal wealth (e.g. their property) as security. So, in addition to their business suffering if they were to unexpectedly die or become seriously ill, their family could face serious financial hardship or even lose their home.

Director's loans

It is common for businesses to have a director's loan account, through which the director can:

- Lend money to the business to fund initial start-up costs or see it through cash flow pinch points, for example;
- Borrow money from the company that is not classed as salary, dividends or expense repayments.

According to research from Legal & General, the average director's loan totals £169,000 – and yet well over a quarter (28%) of businesses are unaware that director's loans must be repaid upon death. This means the business could collapse if there is no insurance policy in place as security.

Loss of a key person

A staggering 52% of businesses say they would cease trading within a year if they lost a key person. Losing a key member of staff can have a huge impact on the business in terms of lost profits, poor cashflow and, potentially, a change in its creditors' attitudes to outstanding debts. That's where business loan protection comes in – it can help alleviate financial pressure by paying off the company's debts and enabling the business to get back on track.

Protect your peace of mind when moving home

Moving home can be a hectic and exciting time, but don't forget about protection – taking out the appropriate policies can save you a lot of stress in the long term.

If you've just moved home or are about to, it probably feels like you've been caught up in a bit of a whirlwind over the past few months. With searching for a property during a pandemic, making the move before the stamp duty holiday ends and potentially getting caught up in the resulting conveyancing backlog, protection policies are probably not top of your priority list.

Yet it's important to take the necessary precautions to ensure your new home and possessions are looked after – now more than ever. Here are some of the main types of protection you should be thinking about.

Mortgage protection

If you're unable to work due to illness or injury or because you've lost your job, mortgage payment protection will cover the cost of your mortgage each month. These policies usually last for a year or until you return to work – whichever is soonest.

You can pick how much you want your policy to pay out each month, and this can include a buffer for other expenses, such as bills. It's important to bear in mind though that providers usually set monthly limits of between £1,500 and £2,000. You won't always be able to claim straight away, and there's usually a waiting period of one or two months. The cost of mortgage protection will depend on:

-  your salary;
-  the size of your mortgage repayments;
-  the type of policy you choose; and
-  how soon you want to be covered.

Income protection

Income protection provides you with a regular income if you've lost your job or are unable to work due to illness or injury. There's usually a minimum wait of four weeks before you can start receiving payments. There are different types available:

- A short-term plan covers you for involuntary redundancy, but is usually limited to a set time period.
- A long-term plan will usually cover you until you return to work, retire, die, or the policy ends – whichever is soonest.

Buildings insurance

If you've got a mortgage, you're likely to have buildings insurance to cover the cost of repairing damage or rebuilding the structure of your home if it's damaged. But have you looked carefully through the policy and made sure that it definitely covers everything you need it to? Once you've moved, you may realise that your new home has a slightly more complex structure than you first realised, and it's important to make sure your buildings insurance takes this into account. If you're lucky enough to not have a mortgage, it's still a sensible idea to invest in this type of insurance for peace of mind.

Contents insurance

If you've bought new furniture and gadgets for your home, you might need to review your contents insurance. This type of insurance covers the cost of replacing possessions in your home if they're stolen, destroyed or damaged. It's a good idea to double check which of your items are covered so that you're not caught out if something does go wrong.

Act now

When you're caught up in the excitement of moving, thinking about protection might be the last thing on your mind. But remember that your circumstances can change quickly and it's important to make sure you're prepared now in case things don't go to plan in the future.
